COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1918.

NUMBER 47

GOVERNMENT ORDER.

In the future we cannot send the paper to our subscribers unless it is paid for one year in advance. The price is $1.50 for all within the first and second zones. Beyond the second zone the price is $2.00. Our force of bookkeepers, under War conditions, is limited and we may be delayed in getting your name off of the list; but when you fail to get the paper, please advise us if we are in error; or else send in, or bring your $1.50 or $2.00 as the zone may require. This notice is final. We are compelled to stop the paper for all, as fast as we can adjust our accounts, except for those who have paid up, for one year in advance. We have several thousand subscribers, and we do not doubt that every one is good, and will pay in due time all arrearages. We would much prefer to run the business of the paper on a credit basis, knowing that it would suit many of our best patrons better on this plan. But we are not allowed to do this under the present condition, and if we lose many of our subscribers, we cannot avoid it. Please look at your label, and if you want the paper continued, advise us promptly to either continue or stop. In the future it will be an oversight or delay in bookkeeping, if we fail to take from the list any who have not paid up one year in advance.

$1.50 for the News First and Second Zones.
$2.00 Outside of Second Zone.

Adair Boys Wounded and Missing in France.

Dispatches from the front report that Private Cohen Royse, son of Arthur Royse, of the Breeding neighborhood, was wounded in action in some one of the recent engagements along the Southern battle front held by the American troops.

On the same day a report came to Mrs. Laura Jackman, of Columbia, that her son, Clarence Jackman, was reported missing, which probably means that he has been taken prisoner. These make five casualties so far reported for the boys of Adair county.

Eubank Snahe Company.

The many Adair county friends of Jno. C. Eubank, a former Adair county citizen, but now of Campbellsville, will be gratified to know that he has been the promoter of a patent right, which the outlook is very encouraging on. He has since receiving his papers from Commissioner of patents, Washington, D. C., May 9th, 1918, been able to incorporate a stock company, organize an official body, sell stock sufficient necessary to the promotion of his company, and has been able to command a nice order from a large jobbing concern of the city. He bears the distinction of President of said company and is still a Democrat.

Registration for Women, Thursday.

No service is asked or expected of a woman except what she may freely offer, but she is requested by the government to register, in any case, that the Women's War Census may be complete. All women over sixteen years are to be included in this registration which is to be taken upon a special card adopted by the Woman's Committee for this purpose, and by selected registrars. At the court-house in Columbia, Thursday, Sept. 19.

Notice.

Every one owing back accounts for schooling at Lindsey Wilson school must settle. I have sent notices and some do not answer. Please let me hear from you and tell me when to expect payment or the same will be given to an attorney for collection.

Very truly,
R. R. Moss.

Antle Dies of Wounds.

Luther Antle another hero of Adair makes the supreme sacrifice for the cause of liberty. Late despatches state that the wounds that he received some weeks ago in the fight near Cantigny have resulted fatally. Antle was a native of Columbia.

Mrs. Mary T. Harvey, One of Adair's Best Known Women, Peacefully Sinks to Rest.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

The residents of Columbia were not surprised, last Tuesday morning, when it was announced that Mrs. Mary T. Harvey had died. The end came at 2 o'clock a. m. She had been afflicted for several months, her body gradually wasting as the days would come and go, and hence those who frequently visited the sick chamber knew that it was only a question of a short time when God would relieve her of bodily suffering.

There were but few better known women in Adair county. She was a teacher for many years, and she enjoyed the reputation of rapidly advancing her pupils. Before her marriage the deceased was a Miss Turk, her parents dying many years ago.

Many years ago her husband died, leaving her with three small children, and besides rearing them, she bought and paid for a comfortable home. Her daughter, Miss Mae, has been her constant companion, and during the mother's illness was always at the bedside.

Her son, Mr. John T. Harvey, lives in Boston, Mass., and when notified of his mother's serious illness, came at once, and with a nurse he provided, and sister, the three watched faithfully at the bedside. Another son, Mr. Harry Harvey, if living, is somewhere in the far west, but no word has come from him for several years.

Besides the children she leaves one sister, Mrs. Rice, of this county, and one brother, Mr. W. Turk, of Bagnell Station, Texas.

Mrs. Harvey made a profession of her faith in Christ when quite a young woman and united with the Christian Church, remaining faithful to her profession until the final dissolution.

This entire community feels the deepest sympathy for the surviving members of the family.

Religious services were held at the residence Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by her pastor, Eld. Z. T. Williams, assisted by Rev. O. P. Bush. The remains were buried in the cemetery by the side of her husband.

There were many beautiful floral offerings.

All Canines Must Bear Proper Tags in Kentucky.

Preparations for the rigid enforcement of the dog license act, passed by the last Legislature, are now being made in the county clerk's office. The act states that after January 1, 1919, it shall be unlawful for any person in the state to own or keep a dog, unless the dog is licensed, and unless it wears at all times the required collar and tag. The purpose of the law is to protect livestock, to encourage sheep-raising and to do away with the stray dog.

Oil Magnate.

Mr. J. C. Henry of Belmont, New York came in last week to look after the drilling on his holdings in the Eastern part of the country. Mr. Henry is gutting down the well on the Jackman farm and expects to know what will be the outcome from this hole within ten or fifteen days. Drilling was begun last Saturday. Mr. Henry is a most successful operator and has strong faith in the Adair field.

I am adding to my line of Fall Millinery goods, a handsome line of Ladies Coats, Coat suits, odd skirts and waists, this line has just been bought, and is now being received. You are invited to call at my rooms on second floor of Russell Building and inspect my stock.

46-2t Mrs. G. W. Staples.

Big Land Deals.

Mrs. Jennie Coffey sold, this week, to E. E. Cheatham her property, the old Coffey homestead. The consideration was not made known. Mr. Cheatham sold his farm last week to H. C. Willis, of Barren Co., for $9,000.

Sixteen hundred and ninety-six white men were registered in the selective draft from men from 18 to 45 in the county on last Thursday. In addition there were 126 colored men who registered, making the total 1,822. From this good showing, there are very few slackers, if any, in this county.

Married in Jeffersonville.

Miss Grace Huffaker, now Mrs. Stanley H. Smith, gave her many Adair County friends a surprise, when the report was sent home that she and Mr. Smith had been married in Jeffersonville on Sunday the 8th. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of former County Superintendent, Tobias Huffaker, and was teaching at Spurlington, in Taylor Co., which is the home of her husband, who is now in the uniformed service of Uncle Sam.

U. G. HENDRICKSON:

Passes Over Divide Wednesday of Last Week.

Last Wednesday morning about thirty, death's slumbers enshrouded the cot of U. Green Hendrickson, prominent Casey Creek citizen and claimed him as his own. Mr. Hendrickson had been suffering for about two weeks, and owing to his advanced age, hope for his recovery was abandoned and he gradually sank until the end came peacefully to close his life's history. Mr. Hendrickson's life is too well known for us to add a word of beauty or eloquence, as it was full of deeds well done for his Master, noble impulses prompted with unselfishness and death proved only a portal for his entrance into a nobler and better sphere. He was a devout member of the Christian church, a strong factor for good and his community and county is made poorer in his death.

His first marriage was to Miss Mariah Jane Sanders and to this Union were born four children. One son died several years ago and four daughters survive: Mesdames Mollie Kelger, Ella Bland and Myrtle Brumley of Kansas and Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell of Oklahoma. There were no children born to his second wife who was Mrs. Elizabeth Sanders. After her death he married Mrs. Woodrum Roso who with the children of his first wife, and sisters, Mesdames Mary Chelf, Nancy Stayton of Missouri and Mrs. William Belton of Kansas; also three brothers, Joe of Casey Creek, Felix of Missouri and former County Judge, W. T. Hendrickson of this city.

All Patriots.

Word comes from Dr. R. B. Watson who was at Pensacola, Fla., enlisting as surgeon in the Navy. He had passed both physical and medical examination and was accepted. Dr. Watson is a son of Rev. B. T. Watson of the local Presbyterian church. He will have the rank of Lieutenant in the Navy which is the same as Capt in the Army. He leaves a lucrative practice some $8000 a year at Chattanooga, Tenn., and is willing it seems to make this volunteer sacrifice, for his country. His former work six years ago under Governor appointment as surgeon in the Panama gives him a preferred rank at once and permission to take his wife and little boy, R. B. Jr., with him. This is the completion of the Watson home for the service. None left to go but himself but, he is willing.

Made Great Hit.

The picture, "My Four Years in Germany," Gerard, made the greatest hit that has yet been made by the big features that Messrs. Nell & Son have been putting on at the Paramount for some time. These special shows are brought by the management of the theatre at intervals of two weeks and a month. It is very expensive to secure these special pictures for Columbia, but the public have been so liberal in their patronage and support of these pictures at the higher price necessarily charged that it is hoped that Nell & Son will bring them weekly, if possible. Mr. Nell is doing a splendid and patriotic service in featuring these big shows, all strictly along the one big idea of America today, patriotism and winning the war.

The next big attraction which comes on Oct. 12, is "The Man Without a Country." This is based on the great novel written by Edward Everett Hale, one of the most intensely American works ever written, and written by a direct descendant of the first American martyr of the Revolution, which gave to this country its freedom, and typical of the sentiments of the great struggle in which we are now engaged.

J. C. S. Blackburn Dies Suddenly.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Joseph C. S. Blackburn, former senator from Kentucky and in recent years resident commissioner of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, died early today at home here. He was stricken shortly after arising with a recurrence of heart attacks, from which he was a chronic sufferer.

Senator Blackburn was almost 80 years old and served through the Civil War with the Confederate army. Resuming law practice in Kentucky after the war, he was elected to the Kentucky Legislature and later to Congress, serving in the House from 1875 to 1885. He represented Kentucky in the Senate from 1885 to 1897, and again from 1901 to 1907.

As a member of the Isthmian Canal Commission he had charge of the civil administration of the Canal Zone more than two and a half years from 1907 to the Democratic national conventions of 1896, 1900 and 1904 he was a delegate from Kentucky.

No Compromise Peace.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Germany's latest Peace feeler, advanced thru Austria, it was officially stated today, best finds its answer in President Wilson's Baltimore speech delivered last April.

"Force; force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world, and cast every selfish dominion down in the dust."

A. J. Balfour, speaking for Great Britain: "It is incredible that anything can come of this proposal of peace."

Notice.

After visiting the public privy and some pig pens and back streets and lots it was decided that said privy was in a very unsanitary condition and was a menace to the public health and it was and is hereby directed that said privy be closed until put in a sanitary condition. Also that the way the pig pens, privies and premises are kept are a source of danger to the public health and should be cleaned and kept clean or closed. From Coburg.

A rumor has been circulated through the country to the effect that two of our best women viz. Mrs. Lucy Banks and Eula Banks have committed the error of buying sugar to an unlawful amount. I want to correct this and say that it is false to the core, not one atom of truth to it not one thing for story to get it started only just the fruit of a talebearer. I would be pleased if all our friends will take notice of this and contradict if heard again. No attention was paid to it on our first hearing but like many other things "the further it goes the larger it grows," until the last account the parties named were in federal prison while in truth these christian loyal women were at duties in their respective homes. A friend.

For Weak Women

In use for over 40 years! Thousands of voluntary letters from women, telling of the good Cardui has done them. This is the best proof of the value of Cardui. It proves that Cardui is a good medicine for women.

There are no harmful or habit-forming drugs in Cardui. It is composed only of mild, medicinal ingredients, with no bad after-effects.

TAKE

The Woman's Tonic

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help. "I was taken sick, seemed to be . . .," writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk . . . just staggered around. . . . I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

Let Us Eat Fish.

The variety of fish is legion and only the limitations of shipping restrict us from all kinds. Those who live near the sea coast have a large choice, while the inland dweller may have a limited number. They are very good.

Some fish are best baked, others breaded and fried, while others are best broiled or boiled.

Jellied Fish.

Take two pounds of any large steak fish, two cupfuls of strained tomatoes, one teaspoonful of onion juice, a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of table sauce, six stuffed olives, one hard cooked egg, three tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin and six thin slices of lemon. Cook the fish in three cupfuls of boiling water for 20 minutes. Remove the fish and return the stock to the fire; reduce to one pint by boiling. Strain, add tomatoes, onion and seasoning. Cover the gelatin with two tablespoonfuls of water, then add to the boiling stock. Remove the skin and bones from the fish, break it into flakes and put it into a mold or bowl rinsed with cold water. Cut the lemon, egg and olives in thin slices, put around the edge of the bowl, then slowly pour in the mixture. Set in a cold place until firm; then turn out on a chop plate that has been lined with shredded lettuce. Garnish with lemon and a few rings of stuffed olives. Serve with tartare sauce or salad dressing.

Deviled Fish.

Cover three to four pounds of fish with boiling water, add one small onion and one tablespoonful of salt; boil for 25 minutes. Take from the water; when cooled, pick the fish, discarding the bones and skin. Put into a bowl and add the sauce, mixing well; put into ramekins, sprinkle with bread crumbs; place the dishes in hot water and bake for 15 minutes. Sauce—Put three tablespoonfuls of flour and two of butter in a saucepan; cook until smooth, then add one and a half cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, a tablespoonful of onion juice, the same of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one-half teaspoonful of dry mustard. Cook all together for five minutes; then it is ready to serve with the fish.

Crab Salad.

Line a bowl with shredded lettuce and put four cupfuls of crab meat in the center, cover with well-seasoned mayonnaise. Garnish with a cupful of sliced pickles. Sprinkle with chopped green pepper, capers or stuffed olives.

Four hundred and sixty-five "farmettes" were sent out from the southern California branch of the woman's land service at Los Angeles from May 1 to July 17, last, to aid California ranchers in their efforts to increase the country's food supply. Nearly all of these have remained in the service, and as proof that these young women are capably filling the places of men called into the army or other activities connected with the war, it was pointed out at the headquarters of the service that many of their requests for help came from ranches near those to which units had previously been sent.

Volunteers in the woman's land army sent out from Los Angeles include teachers, stenographers, saleswomen, waitresses and school girls. Most of them have been employed in gathering and preparing for market delicious fruits. Activities of others have included driving tractors, dairying, planting tomatoes, harvesting various crops and making hay.

The dairy industry has taken large dairies near Los Angeles, women having largely replaced men as milkers. Of the first units sent to the dairies only a few of the young women had milked before, and most of them were unaware that there is a "wrong" as well as a "right" side to a cow until they had been kicked over by outraged animals.

New Torpedo "Catcher" Said to Frustrate a Shipwreck

A new method of fighting the U-boat menace is for the attacked vessel to drop a depth charge as the torpedo approaches. In daylight the wake of the torpedo can usually be seen quite clearly. When the depth charge explodes it either causes the premature explosion of the torpedo or else diverts the deadly missile from its course. This was found out quite by accident. A ship's officer, in his excitement one day, threw a depth charge overboard. It did the trick.—Cassell's Journal.

Training Hawaiian Dancers.

Hawaiian dancers have a curious training for their profession, a correspondent writes. When they are little brown babies their mothers take them out in the sun and put a soft rubber ball on their stomachs. If they can keep the ball safely on the "tummy" they get something good to eat. If they let it roll off they get a spanking.

Growing Drugs a New Industry

Production of Herbs Necessary in Industrial Arts and Medicine is Daily Increasing.

That the growing of herbs, necessary in the industrial arts and in medicine, is increasing by leaps and bounds in the United States is the opinion of members of the American Pharmaceutical association. The war furnished the necessary stimulus when the most important drugs became otherwise unobtainable.

Not all that is being done can be published, but rumor has it that plants used in gas warfare are now being grown "somewhere in America." The airplane industry, too, accounts for the high cost of castor oil, which is valuable since it does not gum. Castor beans are being extensively grown in Florida, Texas and southern California.

Japan, among the foreign countries, has most rapidly taken up this plant cultivation, according to Clare O. Ewing, acting pharmacognocist of the bureau of chemistry. Nippon now exports a huge amount of insect powder, besides furnishing the United States with castor beans, mustard seed and valerian.

The plant industry is not primarily a commercial game, as it is too expensive, for the most part, to be profitable, say the growers. Much experimenting is being done today by the federal and state governments, by botanical gardens connected with the universities and colleges, by drug houses and individuals. In the case of certain drugs they have succeeded in producing the best quality and at a profit.

Doctor Rusby, dean of the College of Pharmacy, Columbia college, New York, and scientific director of the New York botanical gardens, said: "Success is possible, but is bound to be limited. Inexperienced and ignorant people will meet with failure. Special knowledge is needed to grow drugs. A good farmer is not enough. The man must be a trained botanist as well. Each separate drug must be studied and the methods of growing it be experimented with. Again, only a relatively small number of drugs can be grown in any one region."

The most important drugs now being produced in this country are: Digitalis, the well-known heart tonic, which was found to be growing wild on the Western coast and is now collected. The University of Minnesota cultivates digitalis for the government.

Belladonna, which was difficult to obtain but which is grown on a large scale today.

Henbane leaf, which is still being experimented with by many. It is difficult to get, but is valuable in both medicine and the industrial arts.

Of the less important plants which are being cultivated, there are: Golden seal, a rare and expensive drug, difficult to grow. Twenty-five years ago it sold at 15 cents a pound. Today it is $5 and $6 a pound. Sage, peppermint, burdock root and Indian hemp, a narcotic.

FATTENING TURKEYS

The turkey, being somewhat of a wild fowl, does not take kindly to small pens and is usually fattened on the range. Birds that are to be marketed for the holiday trade are given all the cracked corn they will eat twice a day. When freezing weather comes early and destroys insect life it is advisable to furnish some form of meat feed, such as commercial meat-scrap, where birds can have easy access to it.

In case a local market is to be supplied it is possible to feed turkeys in crates. The birds are put in small crates in a quiet, protected building and fed three times a day on batter made of cornmeal, low grade flour, meat scraps and a small amount of bran mixed with buttermilk. This method is more expensive and only practical where markets are to be supplied. The old range method of fattening is more desirable as well as economical.

Care should be taken to remove all breeding stock from the birds selected for market, as it is not desirable that those to be kept over should become too fat.

American Medal of Honor Is the Hardest to Gain; The Most Rarely Awarded

Naval and military men of America claim that their medal of honor, the equivalent to Britain's Victoria Cross, is the hardest to gain, the most rarely awarded, and therefore the most precious and least known of all such decorations throughout the world. When a man is entitled to wear an inconspicuous bronze star pendant from a blue ribbon on which are 13 white stars, it is certain that he has performed a deed of almost superhuman fearlessness. The Medal of Honor is a five-pointed star with a medallion in the center bearing the head of Minerva and around it "United States of America" in relief. On each ray of the star is an oak leaf, and the points themselves are trefoil-shaped. A laurel wreath in green enamel encircles the whole, and this wreath is surmounted by the word "Valor," which in turn is surmounted by an eagle that attaches the decoration to its ribbon. The holder of this decoration, if an army man, wears, when in service uniform, a button or badge, six-sided, and made of blue silk with 13 white stars. If in the navy the decoration is represented by a small red, white and blue bow knot.

For Reflection.

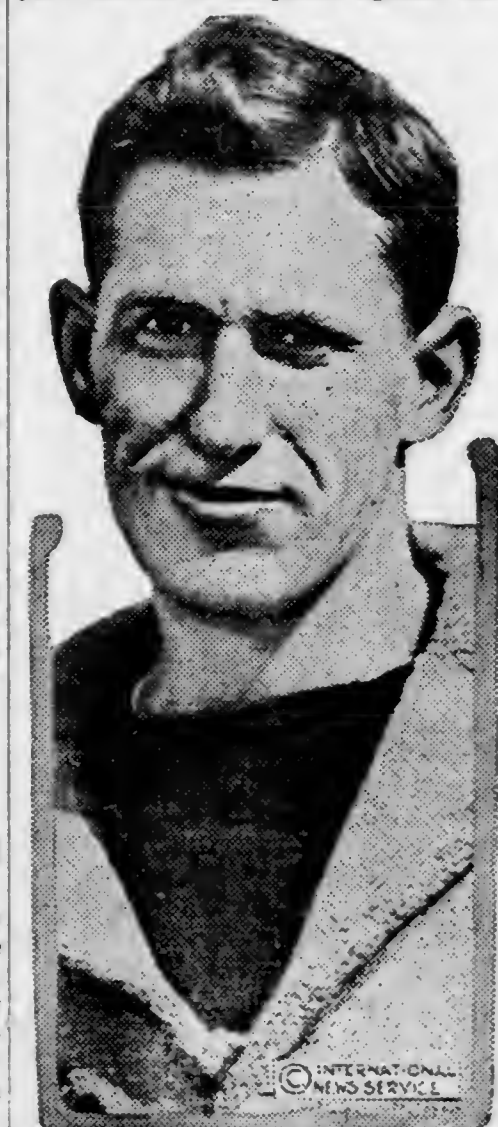

There's nothing so unimportant as self-importance. The man who is always welcomed at home is usually welcomed everywhere else. Success is nothing more nor less than doing well at the right minute something that the world wants done well. The reason some men succeed is because they are determined to make the knockers and the scoffers take back what they said.

Shipyard Elevens Expect Many Scrappy Games With Soldier and Sailor Teams

Professional football will be played in the Pacific Northwest this fall. Bruce Smith, for four years star half-back of the Notre Dame team, is now a shipbuilder in Seattle, and with Tad Jones is making plans for several shipyard elevens to be pitted against soldier and sailor teams.

Tad Jones.

dier and sailor teams. Smith was captain of the Notre Dame eleven in 1911.

A large number of former college and high school football stars are now working in the shipyards of the Northwest, and Smith believes it will not be difficult to recruit some strong elevens among these workers.

Alcohol May Be Distilled From Fumes of a Bake-Oven

Through the seizure of a still in a bakery in New Mexico, where a quantity of alcohol was discovered that had been distilled from bake-oven fumes, considerable discussion has taken place concerning the manufacturing of alcohol as a by-product of bread. The still was a crudely constructed affair, the vapor from the bread being conducted from the oven into a worm, which was cooled by passing through a barrel of water, condensing the vapor. The baker was not arrested, as it was clearly shown that no evasion of the law was intended. However, possession of a still is in violation of the law, and this one was seized by the internal revenue service. The baker states that alcohol can be manufactured for war use at a very small cost by army bake shops and bakers in large cities. The practicability of the plan remains to be worked out.

WAR NEWS.

The first all American army led by Gen. John J. Pershing has won a decisive victory in the St. Mihiel salient, wiping out this salient entirely. Pershing's army is pushing on toward the great fortified city of Metz, which is the capital of Lorraine, a German province, which the Germans took away from France in 1871.

The Americans in their drive in the St. Mihiel salient have probably trapped between 50,000 and 60,000 Germans. The Havas Agency reports that the Germans had in this sector between 80,000 and 100,000 men, and that they escaped from the "trap" at the rate of 1,000 an hour. This would account for 35,000 making their getaway and leaving from 54,000 to 64,000 in the pocket made by the advance of the Americans. Edward L. James, in his account of the battle, mentions that behind the American lines were a number of the enemy, in fact that the advance had been so rapid that much of the ground they have traversed was almost unexplored, paradoxical as that may seem. The capture of the prisoners and the dash of the Americans is vividly told in this story.

London, Sept. 13, p. m. (by A. P.)—Twelve thousand prisoners have been taken by the Americans in their offensive at St. Mihiel. The entire salient now has been captured.

Paris, Sept. 13, 1:05 p. m. (by A. P.)—The St. Mihiel salient, it is understood has been reduced. The censor will not permit the publication of names of the town and villages forming the present American line in the St. Mihiel sector.

THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

"DAMN THE UNITED STATES!"—"I wish I may never hear of the United States."

John Alton, a conscientious pacifist, utters this curse at a time when he is angered by the scorn of his patriotic friend, and dejected by the loss of his sweetheart, Barbara Norton, who considers him a slacker. John is induced to read Edward Everett Hale's famous story: "THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY," and the incidents seem to him like a replica of his own life in a previous existence. As Lieut. Phillip Nolan, U. S. A., John sees himself on trial for the identical curse against the United States: uttered by himself; then condemned to pass the rest of his life as an unshackled prisoner on board a warship without ever hearing of the country to which he belonged, and eventually dying in his cabin with a benediction for the flag of the United States.

The visualization of the story quickens in John Alton, the dormant sense of responsibility to his country, and he becomes a recruit at Fort Slocum.

Meanwhile Barbara has been a Red Cross nurse in France. The ship on which she is returning to America is attacked by a German submarine and the wreck floating in mid-ocean presents a triumph to film realism. Whether Barbara was rescued from the wreck to resume the interrupted romance with her former lover is fully revealed in the final reel. See this most amazing photo-play, OCTOBER 12th, AFTER-NOON and EVENING.

R. O. Moreland an Atlanta Merchant, Talks.

VI-TO-NA Brought Him From a General Rundown Condition to a Healthy Man Again.

Mr. R. O. Moreland, of the firm of Moreland, Bros., 209 Sidney St., Atlanta, Georgia, says that VI-TO-NA certainly has been a blessing to him.

"I had a terrible breakdown in health," said Mr. Moreland, "I suffered terribly from indigestion—Nothing I ate seemed to agree with me—My blood was in an awful condition. This, of course, caused eruptions on my skin, and altogether I was in bad shape. Then the restless, sleep-broken nights added to my discomfort. I heard of so much good being gotten from VI-TO-NA until I decided to try it. In fact, my brother, who is my business partner, was taking it, and I could see that VI-TO-NA was "busy as a bee" going after his troubles, which were similar to mine. I certainly will never regret taking this wonderful remedy, for now I am myself again—feeling fine as a youngster. And I give VI-TO-NA the credit for it all."

VI-TO-NA is sold in Columbia exclusively by J. N. Page and at Gradyville by Wilmore & Moss.

The idea in giving this label is that the subscription window card issued in former campaigns cannot be seen in the windows from the country roads. What Is Sugar?

By the U. S. Food Administration

Sugar is a food as well as a flavor. One of the simple food lessons the United States food administration has driven home is "Food Is Fuel for Fighters." Sugar is one of the conspicuous fuel foods. Its great advantage is that it is quickly burning, and gives its energy to the body more rapidly than other kinds.

The commercial granulated sugar we buy at the store is "not the only sugar on the shelf." Some of these other sugars have popular names which denote their origin, such as grape sugar, fruit sugar, milk sugar and malt sugar. Their technical names are, in order, glucose or dextrose; fructose; lactose; maltose.

The beet sugar or cane sugar that we buy from the grocer is also an "ose." It is called "sucrose."

The department of agriculture tells us that while the canes and the sugar beet are the only commercially important sources of sucrose, this form of sugar is also found in the stems and roots of sorghum and cornstalks; in the carrot, turnip and sweet potato; in the sap of some trees, such as the date palm and sugar maple; in almost all sweet fruits, and in the nectar of flowers.

When a sucrose, or ordinary sugar, is taken into the body and goes through the process of digestion, it is changed into glucose and fructose. Lactose goes through much the same process, forming glucose and galactose. Maltose, too, changes into glucose.

Glucose is a simple sugar very easy to digest. As it is manufactured today, it contains absolutely no harmful substances. We need to remember that all the sweeteners the United States food administration asks us to use in place of "sugar" are sugars, too, and though not always in as convenient a form, they give approximately the same food value and flavor.

Words of Wise Men.

Keep thy spirit pure from worldly taint by the strength of virtue.—Bailey.

Be what your friends think you are; avoid being what your enemies say you are; go right forward and be happy.—Pomeroy.

The bigot is like the pupil of the eye—the more light you put upon it the more it will contract.—Holmes.

A man can never be a true gentleman in manner until he is a true gentleman at heart.—Dickens.

The price of liberty is eternal vigilance.

Bronze Powder Is Now Made in America, Not in Germany.

The United States industries use practically 6,000,000 pounds of bronze powder annually, and 35 per cent of our total consumption was formerly imported from Germany, but it is now "made in America." For many years German manufacturers have been practically controlling the bronze powder trade in this country, due to the fact that they have been offering prices which were less than those of the American producers. Bronze powder is manufactured in over 200 grades, differing in color and texture.

French Increase Wheat Crop.

The total production of wheat in France this year is estimated at 60,000,000 quintals (183,500,000 bushels) being an increase of more than 25 per cent over last year's crop, according to the intrinsigant.

Food Administration Urges Test for Wheat Waste; Tells How to Rectify Operation

A matter of unusual importance to grain growers is the food administration's official test for clean threshing, says Indianapolis News. By this rule any farmer can test the work of the threshing machine he has hired. The test is made by directing the straw blower against a blanket, sheet or canvas during the time the weighing device trips five times, recording two and one-half bushels. If more than one pint of wheat is winnowed from the straw on the canvas, bad work is indicated. One and one-half pints indicates a loss of 1 per cent. If more than three pints is found—which means a 2 per cent loss—reasonable time should be given to correct the bad operation, and a second test should be made. If improvement is not obtained, steps should be taken through the county threshing committee to discontinue operations until the avoidable waste is corrected.

Most threshing committees have formulated detailed rules for the guidance of threshing crews in effectively stopping waste of grain. But more effective than the rules and regulations, the food administration believes, has been the eagerness with which farmers and threshermen have accepted their harvest-time responsibility and the diligence with which they are now stopping every source of grain waste.

JUST BE GLAD

Oh heart of mine, we shouldn't worry so!
What we've missed of calm we couldn't have, you know!
What we've met of stormy pain,
And of sorrow's driving rain,
We can better meet again,
If it blow!

We have erred in that dark hour
When the tears fell with a shower
All alone—
Were not shine and showers blest
As the gracious Master meant?
Let us temper our content
With His own.

For we know, not every morrow
So forgetting all the sorrow
We have had;
Let us fold away our fears,
And put by our foolish tears,
And through all the coming years,
Just be glad.

Mental Hygiene, Distinct Innovation in Army Work

"For the first time in the history of warfare," says New York Medical Journal, "mental hygiene as practiced among the soldiers is given the prominence it deserves, and, profiting by the experience of England and France in the present war, the surgeon general was impelled to inaugurate an elaborate organization, both in number and plan, to take care of any mental disturbances detected in the camps or among the soldiers during the war. This is a distinct innovation in the army medical work, for the subjects of mental hygiene and of mental and nervous diseases in general, as occurring among soldiers in war time, were for many reasons either slightly treated or neglected altogether."

Exalted Men.

Hollow trees are always the stiffest, but the mightiest oak, if sound, can bend. The more exalted a man is by station, the more powerful should he be by kindness. There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. Politeness is most useful to inspire confidence in the timid and encourage the deserving.—Magoon.

Purchase of Danish West Indies.

Under the terms of the sale whereby the United States bought the Danish West Indies—now called the Virgin Islands—from Denmark, it was stipulated that German vessels in the harbors of the islands should not be commandeered in the event of the United States going to war with Germany.

Dogs and Cats Are Wanted In Experimental Work by The U. S. Dept. of Mines

The United States government wants dogs and cats. The feline and canine creatures have come into their own, observes a Baltimore correspondent. They are being taken in large numbers all over the country. Just what use is being made of them is not known, though some of the cats are being used for experimental work in the government laboratories.

The municipal dog shelter in Baltimore is furnishing, on an average, 75 dogs a week, and an effort is being made to secure as many cats.

All dogs at the dog shelter on Covington street were requisitioned by the bureau of mines at Washington six weeks ago when 112 dogs were taken. Since then all that have been collected in the city have been turned over to the government agents.

The bureau of mines in asking for them asserted that they would pay all expenses of shipping, which greatly lessens the burden here as the dogs do not have to be killed as heretofore.

Licensed dogs which are picked up are held for 15 days before being sent away, but strays are shipped as soon as received. Sick or maimed animals are not wanted and they are killed.

Before the government asked for these animals, only dogs were taken by the "dog catchers" throughout Baltimore. Now, however, the felines are more desired by the government than are the dogs. Kittens are not desired but especially are the nice fat tabbies wanted. So if any housewife desires to be really patriotic all she has to do is to put kitty in a sack and call the "dog catcher."

List of Foods Which the U. S. Food Administrator Advises Everybody to Eat

This is a list of "protective foods:" Brussels sprouts. Cabbage. Cauliflower. Celery. Collards. Lettuce. Milk. Onions. Spinach. Swiss chard.

If we include some of them in our diet every day, we will be sure of getting enough mineral matter. These are all foods which the United States food administration advises you to eat.

The judge quickly pulled out a two-cent piece from his pocket, and holding it in the palm of his hand said to the lawyer: "Very well, old chap, cover that."

Lusitania May Be Raised By a New Salvage Machine That Also May Save Others

It is not unlikely that one of the great undertakings after the war will be the raising of the Lusitania, notes New York World. The vessel carried a huge treasure to the bottom of the sea. Its value is estimated at $14,000,000, of which $2,000,000 is in gold and silver, brass and copper; a like amount in jewelry and other personal valuables; $5,000,000 in negotiable and unregistered securities in the ship's vault, and a cargo valued at $5,000,000. Much of the latter is believed to be uninjured.

The great ship lies on the shifting sands at the bottom of St. George's channel, in 270 feet of water. Divers and pontoons cannot operate at this depth, so an entirely new type of salvage ship has been designed by a marine engineer, Carl J. Lindquist. At the surface it will be only about thirty feet in length and half that in width, but sweeping downward is a hull which may be extended to a length of 300 feet, and which is mounted on big wheels, resting upon the bed of the sea.

Near the bottom is a large searchlight, capable of illuminating the water for a distance of thirty feet or more, and by means of this the helmsman, far below the surface, will direct the operation of a hollow, flexible steel rod. When the sunken ship is located, a powerful stream of water will be forced through the rod, to clear away the sand which has drifted high around the lost craft.

Four enormous perpendicular pontoons of hollow steel will then be sunk, two on each side of the ship, and to them will be attached huge cables, passing under the sunken hull. When all is in readiness the vessel may be lifted to the surface. There the gaping wound in her side can be repaired and the ship floated into port. This is but an outline of a most ingenious plan, one single feature being the hinged bases of the pontoons, which permit them to sway back and forth in stormy weather without releasing their burdens.

Nor will their usefulness end with the raising of the Lusitania. The ocean bed off the west coast of Europe is dotted with rich prizes. Near Havre, in 150 feet of water, rests the Parthenon, with a $7,000,000 cargo; the Healdton, an American ship, carried $3,000,000 worth of goods to the bottom off the Dutch coast, while but ten miles from the Lusitania the Arabic took her fatal plunge.

Salads for the Family.
The salad dressing is as important in a good salad as is the combination of ingredients.

For the lover of olive oil no dressing is as good as the French dressing and mayonnaise. In the present condition of the market when high grade oil is so costly we will have to use some substitute. Corn oil is a fair oil, of good flavor and may be used in mayonnaise, giving us a most agreeable if not as fine flavored a dressing as olive oil.

Put a yolk of egg with a half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of powdered sugar, a pinch of mustard and cayenne with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice in a cold bowl, beat with a Dover egg beater until thick and well blended, then add a tablespoonful of corn oil, beat well and continue to add the oil, beating well after each addition until a cupful of the oil is used.

Combination Salad.
Take two cupfuls of chopped apple, one finely diced banana, a dozen chopped dates, a cupful of chopped celery and a cupful of good salad dressing. Mix well, and season with salt and a dash of cayenne. Serve in nests of lettuce.

Sweetbread and Almond Salad.
Parboil a pair of sweetbreads, and stand aside to cool. Cut up in small pieces. Blanch twenty-four almonds, dry in the oven, then chop rather fine. When ready to serve, cover a dish with crisp lettuce, mix the almonds and sweetbreads, add a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of paprika, a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and mix thoroughly.

Add a stiff mayonnaise dressing and arrange on the lettuce.

Ceylon Tomato Salad.
Peel and chop three solid tomatoes after removing the seeds, add a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of chopped onion, the same of green pepper and a half teaspoonful of paprika. Mix and turn into the dish in which it is to be served. Stir coconut cream until thick and pour four tablespoonfuls over the tomatoes and serve.

To make the coconut cream, grate a good sized coconut and pour over it a pint of boiling water, stir and let stand until all the goodness has been washed out of the nut. Turn into a cheesecloth and press dry. Let this milk stand over night and by morning a good thick cream will be formed over the top. Remove the cream and use the milk underneath for various sauces.

SKETCHES OF ADAIR COUNTY.

Historical and Biographical that Will be of Interest to all Readers of the News.

BY JUDGE H. C. BAKER.

No. 33.

George A. Caldwell and Isaac Caldwell, sons of William Caldwell, the first clerk of the courts of the county, were men of fine ability, and attained to eminence in their profession, the practice of law.

George A. Caldwell was also well known for his political career. When a young man, he was elected to the House of Representatives from Adair, and later was a member of the United States congress. He was also an officer in the army in the Mexican war. He was a man of pleasing address, and very popular manners, and stood very high in the esteem of the people. His race for congress with Joshua F. Bell as his opponent in the district of which Adair was a part was a memorable contest. The two were well mated, both young talented and ambitious, and both had ardent friends to encourage and cheer them to their best efforts. Caldwell was a democrat, and Bell was a whig. They canvassed the district in joint debate, and in the contest each wielded a Damascus blade, neither asking or giving quarters.

For long years afterwards, as long as the old citizens lived who threw up their hats and shouted for the one or the other, it was spoken of as "The good old times in politics," the time when Bell and Caldwell made their race for congress. When telling of it, and what good times they were, and how much better they were then than now, they would say, Politics is n't now what it was then, when Bell and Caldwell made their race. They stood right on the line and fought it out on principle, with no fraud or corruption in it. "I tell you they were good old times," and as the old citizens grew reminiscent, they would say, "I recollect it so well, we had three day elections in those days, and it was mighty hard to tell how it would be, and things would get mighty warm towards the last, and there was a heap of pulling and dragging back and forth, sometimes mighty tough fights would come up, but they didn't use pistols, it was just a knock down and drag out. Bell's friends had their barrel with plenty of brown sugar and tin cups over yonder on the east corner of the public square, and Caldwell's friends had their barrel and sugar and cups on this corner, and all you had to do was to just go and get it and sweeten it to suit yourself. I tell you times have changed very much since then. I believe the world is growing worse all the time."

The funny part is the old citizens were in dead earnest, and believed every word of it.

After serving in congress, George A. Caldwell with his brother Isaac, removed to Louisville, and as partners commenced the practice of law. They soon took a leading position there in the profession.

Isaac Caldwell never held office. He was a lawyer in the strict sense. A few years before his death he was State Elector on the Democratic ticket, and prospectively a candidate for United State Senator. His training as a lawyer had not fitted him for political success. He was wanting in many of the qualities of the politician—not in intellect or force of character, for he was a man of great ability and strong personality—but he had been too long a man of strictly business habits in the line of his profession to learn or practice the arts which please and often win in a political career. He realized this, and retired from the race, and returned to his practice where he was pre-eminent.

We have elsewhere made mention of William and Junius Caldwell, men of high character and ability, members of the same family.

Col. Joseph Stewart, an officer in the regular army for nearly forty years, was born in Columbia, Jan. 29th, 1822. He died at Berkeley, Cal., where he then resided, Apr., 23, 1904.

The Stewarts are of Scotch descent. John Stewart, the father of Col. Stewart, was born in Henry county, Va., in 1798. His father, Thomas Stewart, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and removed to the United States about the close of the Revolutionary war. Later, he came to Cumberland county, Ky.

John Stewart, when a boy came to Columbia, and in 1821 was married to Miss Josephine E. Staters. One of his paternal Uncles was a general in the Revolutionary war. Joseph Stewart received his primary education at Columbia. In 1838, he was appointed to West Point by Hon. Sherrod Williams, then Congressman from the district, from which institution he graduated in 1842, in the class with Sherman, Hancock, Rosecrans, and others distinguished in the annals of the county.

Immediately following his graduation, he was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant and entered upon his duties as such. The period of his services in the army was continuous up to the time of his voluntary retirement in 1879, and embraced the war with Mexico, and the Civil War, in both of which he was actively engaged. At the time of his retirement he held the rank of Lieut. Col., in the regular army.

One of his sons was a Colonel in the regular army, and a grandson is now an officer in the same service.

William Stewart, the other son of John Stewart, was a prominent Attorney of the Columbia bar, and as his death occurred only a few years ago, he is well remembered by our citizens. In addition to his general practice, he served for many years as County Attorney, and as such established a reputation as a vigorous and effective prosecuting Attorney. His command of the English language was wide and accurate, and his speeches, interspersed with wit and humor, were very much enjoyed by the officers of the court and the public, while sometimes they made an obdurate witness or a guilty party feel very uncomfortable. He served for some time as a soldier of the Union army in the Civil war, and was Secretary of Hon. James Speed while he was Attorney General, during the administration of President Lincoln. True to his political convictions and courageous in their advocacy he was from the birth of the Republican party a consistent member of it, and a warm supporter of the great martyr president in the days when he had but few followers in Kentucky.

Timoleon Cravens was a resident Attorney of the Columbia bar, born and educated in the county, and was a man of decided ability. He had a large practice in Adair and adjoining counties. He served a term as a member of the House of Representatives from Adair, and was district Presidential Elector in 1856, and State elector in 1860, on the Democratic ticket. He died in 1866.

Samuel G. Suddarth was another prominent Attorney of that day, a native of the county. He was a son of Daniel Suddarth, an early magistrate of the county, and soldier in the war of 1812. He was for many years County Attorney, and was Quartermaster General of the State under the administration of Gov. Bramlette. He enjoyed a fine reputation as a lawyer, and was a man of bright intellect, possessed of wit and humor which made him attractive and formidable in his profession.

Wm. E. Russell was admitted to the bar in 1849. He was born in the county in 1830, and was a son of Andrew Russell who was born near Logan's Fort, Lincoln county, in 1800. Joseph Russell the father of Andrew, was a brother-in-law of Col. Ben Logan.

W. E. Russell was a member of the House of Representatives from Adair in the session of 1857. In 1867, he removed to Lebanon, and in 1886, was elected circuit Judge of the district embracing the counties of Marion, Washington, Mercer, Nelson, Taylor, and Larue.

Judge Charles A. Hardin, who served a term as Judge in the same district, was the eldest son of Judge Parker C. Hardin, and was born in Columbia, May 8th, 1836. His preparatory education was received in the schools of Adair, after which he spent five years at Center College, graduating in 1856. He studied law with his father and settled in Georgetown Mo., forming a partnership with John F. Phillips, afterwards United States Judge. In 1863, he returned to Kentucky, settling at Harrodsburg, and entered on a fine practice. In 1880, he was elected circuit Judge. After the expiration of his term of office, he resumed the practice of his profession. His son, of the same name, is at present Judge of the district.

Hon. P. Wat Hardin, another son of Parker C. Hardin, is well known over the State. He served three terms as Attorney General of the State, and was subsequently a prominent candidate in the democratic party for the nomination for governor. It was very generally believed that he was the choice of the party, and entitled to the nomination, but he lost it through the manipulations of what is known as the "Music Hall Convention." Following this convention, he retired from active politics.

James T. Bramlette, a son of Gov. Bramlette, was educated in the schools of Columbia, and was a young man of unusual

Time is too precious to be fussing and fretting all the time, besides it is displeasing to the lower animals in the community. A dog hates a fussy tongue.

Believing that it is the duty of every person who enjoys the freedom and privileges of citizenship in our great Country to do his utmost to help win the war, the following firms and individuals have patriotically contributed the money to pay for this and other advertisements of the Fourth Liberty Loan:

Read the casualty lists in the papers and ask yourself: "How long shall I permit this to go on?" There is only one answer: "I will do my utmost to help equip and put into the field an American army that will make short work of the hun and put a stop to the shedding of American blood."

Cards of those who do not volunteer will be used for active solicitation, which will begin Monday, September 30th. No one will be overlooked.

The hope of the world lies in the sons of America.

They are "Over there" now—a million and a half strong; they are going over daily—a million and a half more of them. Another million and a half are waiting for the call that soon will come.

Those who have been under fire have demonstrated superbly the qualities that make fighters—they have shown that the barbarous hun is no match for them.

Many an American son has gone down—has made the supreme sacrifice for his Country and liberty. Before the german horde is driven back within its own borders, many more American sons will go down. How many, depends upon us at home.

A small American army, no matter how brave, will inevitably suffer severe casualties. A gigantic American army will overwhelm the hun and bring quick victory with the least loss of life.

The lives of our sons are in our hands. The boys are ready, willing and eager. They must be trained and equipped. No time must be lost. It is up to us to provide the money necessary to make these boys invincible. We must do it and do it quickly. With our own sons already in the fight, every day's delay lays at our own doors the blood of brave American sons.

boys across the Rhine. It is up to us to buy bonds with every uninvested dollar we own, plus every dollar we can save by careful, frugal living for six months to come.

You don't have to pay all cash for your bonds. You can make your first payment from cash in the bank, and take care of the balance out of your daily, weekly or monthly savings.

The forced saving you do now will mean a nice nest egg later, for the bonds you buy now and pay for as you go along, will prove a splendid investment that will pay you a good interest every six months. After the war, the bonds will be worth more than you paid for them. Don't hesitate to do your duty and do it quickly. "Don't let the SON go down."
